

Icelandic New Wave beginning in Prague: English programs at the FAMU Film School

Radim Procházka, FAMU, Prague, Czech Republic

Presentation of English-speaking programs at FAMU in Prague, one of the most prestigious film schools in the world. For decades, Icelandic filmmakers have moved to the Czech Republic for studying film, and some of the big names in today's Icelandic cinema have based their careers there. The speech is intended to be a reflection of this Czech-Icelandic cultural phenomenon, for the first time accompanied by a screening of selected films of the last 20 years. You can see them at Bíó Paradís on Sunday, 18 September from 11.30 to 13.30.
